Hesston has been known as the hay and forage innovator since 1955, when the company developed the first commercially available self-propelled windrower. Other industry firsts have included the first hydrostatic windrower, the first center-pivot mower-conditioner and the first big square baler—which had nearly 50 individual patents of its own.

Hesston 1010 moco - posted in Machinery: I just purchased an old Hesston 1010 hydroswing mower conditioner. When I bought it, I just looked at the rolls and noticed the rubber one still looked good. After I got it home and was servicing it, I found that the rubber and steel rolls did not mesh together. The ribs on the rolls are different widths and are twisted different directions.
